LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL

SEATTLE, WASHINGTON

OUR SCHOOL

IN October, 1907, Lincoln High School was first opened, but it was a very different Lincoln from the large and modern building we know today. Originally it consisted of only the central part of the present building, the section containing the present study hall, library and gymnasiums being added in 1914 and the new annex within the past few years.

James Edward McKown served as the first principal of the new school with a faculty of forty, six of whom still remain. V. K. Froula became principal in 1912 to be succeeded by F. E. Clerk in 1914 and Harold Adams the following year. In 1923 Mr. Leroy M. Higgins took over the duties of supervising the activities of Lincoln High, which was no longer the school lost in the woods around Green Lake but a thriving institution in the midst of a populous district. Under his guidance and that of Daniel J. Lothrop, who became vice-principal, it has become the fine school we know with its twenty-five hundred students and its twenty-seven years of honored tradition.

"I will study and prepare myself and perhaps some day my chance will come."

LILLIAN V. JOHNSON

DEDICATION

TO Miss Johnson, whose unselfishness and quiet dignity enriched the lives of all those fortunate enough to have known her, and whose true greatness will linger in the minds of all Lincoln students, we, the Senior Class, respectfully and reverently dedicate this 1934 Totem Annual.

JACK AND JILL

THE lives of twenty-six hundred students make up the theme of this annual, lives that, from the time the doors were opened in the morning until they were closed at night, were abundant with class work, sports, and activities: Opera, debate, football, Totem Weekly, and many others. Perhaps it has not been the best year, but still it has been a wonderful one for all of us.

ATTEND LINCOLN

IN choosing "Lincoln High School" for the theme of this annual, we have chosen to take "All of Lincoln and Nothing but Lincoln." We have chosen to make this book a record of our work, our play; our teachers, and the results of our aims and ideals for this year. Themes are easily forgotten, but Lincoln High School will never leave our memories. Throughout the book we see Jack and Jill, representative of the students of our school, taking part in all phases of our school life. They are the typical Lincolnites of today, the men and women of tomorrow.

OH! How they hated to have their pictures taken. Were they afraid fingerprinting was next, or were they just modest, with dislike for picture taking their one childish trait?

The faculty of forty in 1908 has increased to seventy-nine in 1934. Of the originals only a few remain. Slowly these are leaving. We are sorry to see them go, for, somehow, they are now part of the tradition of Lincoln.

FACULTY

Book I

LeROY M. HIGGINS

PRINCIPAL . . . . Eleven years of work in Lincoln and experience teaching in other schools have made Mr. Higgins the successful man we know. He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

His many and varied duties include overseeing instruction, planning assemblies, supervising courses of study and athletic activities, and consulting parents over difficulties of the students. For the past year he has been working as chairman of a committee for the development of Character Education. His main interest, however, is Lincoln High and its students. He is working constantly for the welfare of his school.

GIRLS' ADVISOR . . . . Miss Cole, born and educated in Seattle, went to Broadway High and received a Master's degree in English from the University of Washington. Before becoming Girls' Advisor in February she taught English and has conducted one Literature V class this semester. She was sponsor of the Class of 1932.

She aids needy girls to find jobs and is a willing advisor for all girls. While interested in everything, her hobbies are music, art, and literature. Her appreciation and interest serve to brighten the Girls' Club Room and the lives of the girls who come there.

MIRIAM E. COLE

VICE-PRINCIPAL . . . . Mr. Lothrop, Lincoln's Vice-Principal since 1921, was previously head of the history department here. Graduated from the University of Minnesota, he became Superintendent of Schools in Mapleton, Minnesota.

One of the busiest members of the faculty, he is advisor to both pupils and teachers in almost all school matters, assigns and adjusts classes at the beginning of each school semester, checks activities of school organizations, and keeps in touch with all grade schools contributing to Lincoln, all with an unfailing interest in youth and its well-being.

DANIEL J. LOTHROP

LUTHER C. ALTMAN

BOYS' ADVISOR . . . . Mr. Altman, Boys' Advisor at Lincoln for nine years, graduated from the University of Washington in 1923 with his B. S. degree, returning to secure his M. S. degree in 1927 and his Ph. D. in 1933. Before coming to Lincoln, he taught for several years in Ohio and Washington schools.

As Boys' Advisor he has charge of the fire squad, traffic squad, motor squad, Boys' Big "L," Lynx Club, and Board of Control. He is also a proficient gym teacher, and his zoology classes are among the most interesting in school.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT . . . . The largest department in the faculty of Lincoln High School is the English Department. Its purpose is to teach all of Lincoln's twenty-five hundred students better English, so that they may more easily find their place when they enter the business world or whatever other lines of work they have chosen. Split infinitives, dangling participles, gerunds, complex sentences—all these hold no terrors for those who complete their work under the capable instructors who compose our English Department. The nineteen instructors required by the size of Lincoln teach such varied subjects as composition, literature, public speaking, oral expression, and journalism.

Row 1. DAHL, GRAVES, JOHNSTONE, SCOTT.
Row 2. PFAFF, GORRELL, ESPESETH, McALLASTER, WILLIAMS.

Row 1. BLAIR, HENSEL, GRINDROD, SAYRES.
Row 2. McCONIHE, STERLING, BLOUGH, COLE, BAILEY, PHILLIPPI.

Faculty

Heading this department is Miss Edna L. Sterling, co-author with Miss Miriam E. Cole of the English text used in Seattle high schools. Other teachers in this group are Katherine Bailey, Clio Blair, Miriam Cole, Bernice Dahl, Cora Espeseth, Genevieve Gorrell, Elizabeth Graves, Louise Grebe, Ione Grindrod, Emilie Hensel, Harriet Johnstone, Marion McAllaster, Aimee McConihe, Earl Pfaff, Herbert Philippi, M. Evelyn Sayres, Cora H. Scott, and Inis Williams. Closely allied with these are Miss Jessie Eastman, Lincoln's librarian, and Miss Allie Blough, formerly an English teacher, who now acts as study hall teacher.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT . . . . This department is very familiar to those interested in "deeper" mathematics. Such subjects as geometry, algebra, and trigonometry are among those offered. Here students become initiated into such mysteries as the Binomial and Pythagoreon Theorems. Mr. Johnson Sherrick heads this department. Other teachers are Shirley Boselly, Earl S. Cochran, Belle Gleason, B. C. Hastings, Jessie Orrell, Otto F. Sperling, and Amanda Westhold.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT . . . . The purpose of this department is to guide those interested in music in a more complete appreciation of it through orchestral and vocal performance as well as through creative work. Students are offered such subjects as orchestra, band, glee, and music. This department, led by Carl A. Pitzer, aided by Miss Marjorie Pidduck, gives the opera and concerts and helps with the senior play and assemblies.

Row 1. ORRELL, WESTHOLD, GLEASON, PIDDUCK, PITZER.
Row 2. SHERRICK, HASTINGS, WOLFE, NOLLAN, THOMPSON, BOSELLY.

Row 1. ROSENQUIST, YOUNG, WASSBERG, COCHRAN, GODDEN.
Row 2. SELTZER, SPERLING, FEE, DAVIS, ALTMAN.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT . . . . The task of teaching a deeper understanding of nature and the everyday things around us falls to the science department. Things that were entirely meaningless and drab formerly become simple but fascinating under its guidance. Here we learn the history of plants, the principles of electricity, the composition of the earth, the physiology of the human body, and similar information. The courses include zoology, physiology, botany, chemistry, and physics. In botany the students work in the two gardens kept for their study. Lewis H. Fee is head of the science department. Completing the list of science teachers are L. C. Altman, W. W. Davis, Robert W. Godden, Oscar W. Rosenquist, A. J. Seltzer, Otto F. Sperling, Pauline Thompson, C. E. Wassberg, and W. D. Young.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT . . . . All students are acquainted with the History Department as all have taken some phase of this subject. Under the capable guidance of eleven teachers, students explore the mysteries of past governments, their internal workings and their external activities, and learn of the development of the world from the age of the caveman to the modern age of cement and steel. In studying the political and economic trials and errors of the past, a student is better fitted to solve correctly the problems of present and future life. The History Department is headed by T. E. O'Connor and includes H. H. Fitch, Glen Seymour, Mary E. McKee, Alice Miles, Carl Mapes, Lutie Cheatham, Myrtle Sell, Creighton E. Hays, Jessie Weaver, and Evangeline Burns.

Row 1. BURNS, MILES, McKEE, CHEATHAM, SELL.
Row 2. MAPES, SEYMOUR, HAYS, FITCH, O'CONNOR.

Row 1. FISCHER, SCHOFIELD, HENDRICKS, MICHELSON.
Row 2. POOR, HOTCHKISS, WIEGMAN, BUSH.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT . . . . Learning to speak languages other than English seems quite a task, but under efficient teachers the matter is not difficult. The student able to read and understand more than one language gains opportunities he would otherwise lack and also gains a wider understanding of the people he is studying. This department offers French, German, Latin, and Spanish. The head of the Foreign Language Department is Edith S. Michelson. Other foreign language teachers are Elizabeth Bush, Adelaide Fischer, Lela M. Hendricks, Marguerite Schofield, and Marie Wiegman.

ARTS AND CRAFTS DEPARTMENT . . . . The Arts and Crafts Department offers to students something of the finer things of life. It teaches the intricacies of the various arts among the most popular of which are design, drawing, and leatherwork. Miss L. M. Hotchkiss works with Elizabeth Poor, Helena Torrey, and Theodora Dodds toward this end.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT .... The Commercial Department trains those students who plan to enter the field of business. Lincoln has a reputation for having one of the best commercial courses in the city. This department is invaluable in that it gives training to those who wish to hold office positions immediately after graduating. After the thorough instruction offered here students are capable of filling almost any commercial position. Such subjects as typing, shorthand, business training, bookkeeping, accounting, commercial English, law, and geography are examples of the training offered. The Commercial Department, headed by Mrs. Minnie Kuykendall, consists of Frances J. Bursell, Dagmar Georgeson, Addie M. Hunter, Eleanore Loughead, Leah D. Lovejoy, Bertha Martin, Eldora Oakley, Irene Taake, Hazel Vollmer, and Marion Candee.

Row 1. BURSELL, HUNTER, MARTIN, LOUGHEAD.
Row 2. GEORGESON, TAAKE, LOVEJOY, VOLLMER, OAKLEY, KUYKENDALL.

Row 1. HOULAHAN, JONES, LeBRUN.
Row 2. CLAUS, MUCKLESTONE, OLSON, MINNICK.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT .... To many, house-work and cooking consist of guesswork and sessions with the cook-book. It is the purpose of the Home Economics Department to teach better and easier ways of accomplishing the necessary work. To do this the department offers such subjects as clothing, sewing, foods, and house-hold management. This department includes Eileen Houlahan, Velma Minnick, and Florence Cottrell.

BOYS' INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT .... Improving the handicraft of the students is the work of the Industrial Arts Department. Under the instructors' guidance, the boys get practical training in such beneficial subjects as wood-turning, metal work, drawing, lettering, and electricity. Mr. C. E. Claus is the head and L. L. Jones, Roy Kellogg, R. W. Mucklestone, S. C. Olson, and C. E. Wassberg complete the faculty of this department.

SMILING. Disarmingly smiling photos — zenith of a photographer's art. Individuals, large and small; and group pictures where those "to be took" stood quietly "for just a moment" to please the photographer. Shining noses glinting happily in the sun — and they had on their very own neckties, too!

No, not saints, just classmen at Lincoln; Big shot, insignificant frosh; large group, small group — all smiling. Perhaps this is the best way to remember them.

Class of 1934 . . . . These dignified, self-sufficient seniors roaming our halls and dreaming away their last semester here were, unbelievably, the same meek little freshmen who entered Lincoln in September, 1930, and those proud, haughty Hamiltonians who joined the group in February, 1931, declaring with dignity and unfounded faith, "I'm not a freshman; I'm a sophomore from Hamilton." Organized, with Oscar Rosenquist as faculty sponsor, they enjoyed their Freshman Frolic in a gym decorated in the newly-chosen class colors, green and white, on May first of that year. As disillusioned sophomores, their only outstanding activity was a party in October; but as juniors, they reasserted themselves with a May Day Dance and a Football Dance. Coming into their own this last year, they gave a "Harvest Moon Dance" on November 21, and successfully climaxed their senior week, November 20 to 25, with their senior play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," based on the mystery by George M. Cohan. After a Japanese Garden Ball on May 2, their final activity was Commencement at the University of Washington Pavilion, June 13, which marked the triumphant but reluctant close of their high school career.

CLASS DAY .... Four years ago we entered the halls of Lincoln in fear and trembling. Now, having surmounted all obstacles, we march proudly from her portals to the martial strains of our class song, bearing the evidence of our conquest in learning, ready to solve all the world's problems. And we shall do it, for so our prophet has ordained. But we are sorry to leave, for with all their work and worry, these four years have been among the happiest in our lives. We take with us, as we go, memories of happy incidents, favorite teachers, failures, successes, work, and play, disposing of all which we cannot take with us in our will. Our poem and the history of our accomplishments are soon forgotten by those who follow us, and we pass on to become merely another group of alumni, but we will never forget nor lose our interest in our Alma Mater.

COMMENCEMENT . . . . Commencement—We usually think of it as a time when, with a sigh of relief, we discard our books and all the perplexities we have associated with them. But after the festivities of graduation, with its glamour and excitement, the significance of the ceremony becomes clear. We suddenly realize that to many of us it is a real farewell, not to our school alone but also to the years free from care that accompanied our school days. To all of us, commencement marks the turning point, the time when we assume greater responsibility and independence. It is the time when life suddenly faces us. Commencement is not merely our farewell to our school; it is a greeting to a new world, our salutation to life.

SENIOR CLASS . . . . In spite of the fact that it is slightly shop-worn and somewhat dog-eared, that ancient and honorable body known as the Senior Class deserves much credit for the success it has made the past year.

In September it quite naturally took the lead in all activities, and throughout the year it has continued to set the pace. A few of those activities were strictly senior ones. They included a dance on November 21 and the annual Senior Play on November 24 and 25, climaxing Senior Week, which began the twentieth. These were followed later by a Washington Birthday Dance on February 21 and a Garden Ball in early May. After four years of digging and playing, they've learned a little (we hope) about how to conduct themselves in the next round-up—whether that be more school or business. We wish them luck!

JUNIORS . . . . The juniors, long faces, important business and all, have reached the peak of perfection, and now they're not even flustered about what comes next. (Juniors have a habit of being like that.) They unanimously agree on the success of the year and attribute this to several things —and to one person. The person is Miss Miles, their much-admired advisor. The "things" were chiefly dances, held on October 25 and March 9 and a very special matinée on May 3, all going to show what charmingly versatile people juniors can be.

SOPHOMORES . . . . The members of ye old Sophomore Class have come out of the past year much more aged and slightly wiser than they were when they started last September. They've actually passed a few very difficult classes—ask any one of them or Miss Johnstone, their advisor. They have managed to enjoy themselves sufficiently—at least most of them say they've had as good a time as could be expected. They had two "big days". One was their Sophomore Spree on December 15, and the other was their party on May 17. And now that they're all over their inferiority complexes they are ready to assume the much-looked-forward-to roles of juniors.

FRESHMEN . . . . Now that it's June, you may approach one of those small, green-appearing persons (generally found in dark corners) without having it surprise you by running in the opposite direction like a jack-rabbit or by flooding the surrounding area with tears, like Alice in Wonderland. Since September with Miss Orrell, their advisor's, help this particular species of High School Inhabitant has progressed rapidly. On Friday, April 27, they had acquired sufficient bravado to throw a grand big party —and they called it the Freshman Frolic for originality. They had an extremely exciting program—like nothing their young eyes had before witnessed. Having done so well in one year, who knows what they will accomplish in the next three?

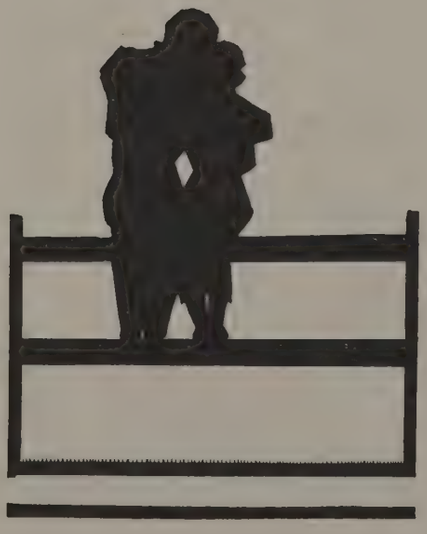
Difference in years
But in nothing more.

IN two weeks' time frosh struts like senior, while sophs and juniors have long since been given up by serious minds, and seniors seem unable to shake off the effects of their freshman year.

Perhaps it is this that makes school, in spite of its studies and other failings, the happy place that it is and causes our life at Lincoln to be as happy as any we shall ever know.



SCHOOL LIFE

Book III

ANNA MARIE BOTTKER—Our Girls' Club president and a really charming person.

DAVE LEGRAND—"Racehorse"—a track star, a fine Boys' Club officer, and a math shark. We like him.

JIM NEANDER—"Touchdown Star"—a living proof that "Gentlemen prefer blondes."

MADELINE MURPHY—Vivacious and kind-hearted—well-liked by all.

WATSON SMITH—"Jazzhound"—an outstanding member of the great Smith family.

GEORGIE MAHIN—One very good reason for the good work of the Girls' Club.

CALENDAR—1933-1934

Sept. 7 First fuzzy sweater of the year. Freshmen run panic-stricken as Bob McCausland goes King Kong one better.

Sept. 8 "Yes, sonny, you'll find it first door to the left."

Sept. 11 Dick Landes upon seeing Peggy Horrocks for the first time, "Why, I don't think she's so funny looking."

Sept. 17 Loud crash! Lloyd "Pewee" Bloom falls in a big way for Hazel May Holmes.

Sept. 25 Fifteen freshmen turn out for the Senior Play.

Sept. 30 Miss McAllaster wonders if maybe those freshmen might not have been pretty good after all.

Oct. 1 Bob Blood elected president of Girls' Club.

Oct. 5 Membership of Girls' Club jumps 50%.

Oct. 9 Tom Powell stages a blush act when Lela Mae Dodds finds him in very scanty attire.

Oct. 15 Senior Play rehearsals. Lorna Campbell lures Bob McCausland to balcony of darkened auditorium. Miss McAllaster still wondering.

Oct. 19 2:00 A. M. Bob McCausland walks nine miles home from the Campbell domicile.

Oct. 23 Elwin Lockhart becomes the proud father of twelve ducks. Pass the cigars, stooge.

Oct. 30 Hallowe'en. Hi-Y Club, Board of Control, and Girls' Club Cabinet take annual ride in patrol wagon.

Nov. 1 Betty Lou Collins starts going steady with Art Eckburg.

JIM ROBINSON—The "serious" twin—a swell football captain and president of the Senior Class.

PAT HAGMAN—Our most polished orator—as well as Lincoln's premier girl athlete.

BOB WHITWAM—"Robert, the Silent"—One of the school's best workers.

KEN DOWNIE—"Speaker of the House"—he ruled the Lynx Club with a firm and guiding hand.

LELA MAY DODDS—Why waste our time—you are respectfully referred to the gentleman to the right.

TOM POWELL—Tall, dark, and handsome—another football hero.

Calendar—1933-1934

Nov. 5 Betty Lou Collins, Eckburg's one and only, steps out with Ray Shutt.

Nov. 7 Back to school night—usual crowd of indignant parents outside Mr. Cochran's room.

Nov. 12 Our chemistry prof. is seen buying a pair of silk stockings at the women's counter of the Bon Marche.

Nov. 14 How did they fit, Mr. Fee?

Nov. 18 From the looks of disgust on the faces of so many juniors and seniors their annual proofs must have looked too natural.

Nov. 20 Study halls and boys' gym practically depopulated as chanters' drill team trains for its big day.

Nov. 23 Collins gal has big time at Rolling Beach with local senior boy. (T. B.)

Nov. 24 Albert Allen's false teeth scare the wits out of the audience of "Seven Keys to Baldpate."

Nov. 25 Ditto above.

Nov. 28 Spanish Club presents "The Three Bears." Mary Peters stars as the Great Big Bear.

Nov. 30 Coach Nollan goes to sleep at Lynx-Garfield championship football game.

Dec. 7 Triple "L" girls serve at Father and Son Banquet.

Dec. 8 Triple "L" Club is absent en masse. Girls seem very touchy on the subject of feet.

Dec. 12 Dave Maurier sees Barbara McHardie.

ART KIDD—"Speedball"—a fine track captain.

HELEN C. SMITH—Another Smith—the force behind the cabinet.

GAYLE TRAVIS—The keeper of the keys to the Senior Class treasury.

BILL HAIGH—"Haigh and Haigh"—One reason why annual editors get gray hair.

RAY MACDONALD—One of these mental giants who play chess for relaxation.

HARRY PRIESTLY—A swell Hamlet or Romeo—with red hair.

Calendar—1933-1934

Dec. 14 Barbara McHardie sees Dave Maurier.

Dec. 15 Barbara McHardie transfers to Roosevelt.

Dec. 18 Bill Haigh sends annual letter to Santa.

Dec. 21 Readers' Club presents Miss Graves with a copy of "Anthony Adverse."

Dec. 22 Miss Graves has a headache but proudly declares that she finished the first hundred pages anyway.

Dec. 24 Head of Math department receives seven baskets from the Salvation Army. Remember your diet, Mr. Sherrick.

Dec. 26 What luck, Bill?

Jan. 1 We start the year off right by staying home from school.

Jan. 3 It was too good to last—here we are back again.

Jan. 7 And was Miss Wolfe surprised? Someone appropriated her car.

Jan. 13 Miss Graves wonders why she ever became involved with the Readers' Club anyway.

Jan. 15 George Compton takes his regular midwinter bath.

Jan. 17 Cornelius Fischer dodging Pat Sharkey and Jane Norton.

Jan. 19 Pat Sharkey and Jane Norton dodging Cornelius Fischer.

Jan. 21 Some folks are gluttons for punishment. Most of midyear grads hang around.

Jan. 27 Dillinger, noted outlaw, gives vocational talk at assembly.

PAT SHARKEY—One reason Bob is so silent. She awes us dumb too.

FRANK BATHURST—Our most shrinking violet.

BILL ROSE—"Only a Rose"—but he rates our vote in any flower show.

EDITH JANE ROBBINS—A born reformer—responsible for much of our school's neat appearance.

DON WARD—"Just a gigolo"—one of those big shots we can't do without.

MARGARET CLARK—A charitable soul—she heads all our social work.

Calendar—1933-1934

Feb. 1 Jim Neander has best looking meat in Senior Foods Class. To whom do you owe your success, Jim?

Feb. 5 Bob Rettig and Paul Schatz become fixtures around Dot Olson's house.

Feb. 9 Papa Olson offers the boys special rates by the week.

Feb. 13 It finally stopped raining long enough to take annual pictures. For portrait of Bob Plumb, see freshman class pictures.

Feb. 14 St. Valentine's Day. Virginia Polley's pater tells Warren Nichelin that "3:30 A. M. is too derned late to sit on my front porch!"

Feb. 20 Deep gloom pervades atmosphere of Room 110—the whole chess squad is ineligible.

Feb. 25 "And I read every single page of it, too!"—Miss Graves.

Mar. 1 Jack Putnam and Bill Rose escort unknown blonde to Mickey Mouse matinee.

Mar. 5 Byron "Butterhorn" Brown, the little man with the big smile, challenges Miss Weaver to duel.

Mar. 6 Miss Weaver spanks Master Brown.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate"

Elijah Quimby	Curtis Hume
Mrs. Quimby	Betty Gordon / Beverly Hilts
William Hallowell Magee	Ted Baughn
John Bland	Millard Loomis
Mary Norton	Annamae Schoonover
Mrs. Rhodes	Lorna Campbell / Lorraine Magnussen
Peters, the Hermit	Albert Allen

"Keys, keys, and more keys! How many keys are there to this blessed flat?" exclaimed one William Hallowell Magee, writer of sensational novels and hero of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," the exciting and entertaining drama presented on the nights of November 24 and 25 in Lincoln's auditorium.

This melodramatic farce begins when Baldpate Inn, a summer hotel on the top of Baldpate mountain, is opened in the dead of winter by the caretaker, Mr. Quimby, and his wife. They have been ordered to do this to prepare the inn for occupancy by Mr. Magee, who has made a wager with the owner of the inn, a friend of his, that were he given the most lonely spot on earth, he could write a full length novel about the place in twenty-four hours. When left alone to begin the story, he is informed by the Quimbys that he has the only key to Baldpate and so he settles down to a night of uninterrupted writing.

The first disturber of his peace is John Bland, who enters the inn with what he supposes to be the only key. He has come to leave a two hundred thousand dollar bribe in the hotel safe until the next morning when he is to turn it over to Jim Cargan, Mayor of the city of Reuton, on behalf of his employer, Thomas Hayden, a railway president who is interested in securing a valuable franchise. Aroused by the noise, Magee comes upon Bland just as he closes the safe and locks him in another room from which he soon escapes by way of a window.

Another key in the lock heralds the approach of a girl newspaper reporter, Mary Norton, who has come in search of the story of the bet of which she has learned. She is accompanied by a Mrs. Rhodes, who keeps a boarding house and is engaged in marry the crooked Mayor Cargan. As in all such cases, Magee falls in love at once.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate"

Myra Thornhill	Betty Lou Grant
Lou Max	Harry Priestly
Jim Cargan	Arthur Eckberg
Thomas Hayden	Marshall Shore
Jiggs Kennedy	Richard Neal
A Policeman	Robert McCausland
The Owner of Baldpate	Robert Phair

The fourth key opens the door for a hermit, who is mistaken for a ghost and goes about scaring the ladies with his protruding teeth. When left alone, the hermit tries to open the safe but is interrupted by more intruders in the persons of Mayor Cargan and his henchman, Lou Max, who have come ahead of the appointed time to steal the money. They and Hayden, who soon arrives, try to leave but are forced to remain by Magee, who gives Mary the money to take to town. Still another visitor with still another key then arrives. This latest addition to the strange company is Myra Thornhill, who has also come to steal the money. The climax is reached when Max kills Myra after a violent quarrel and those present agree to lay the blame on Magee. The tension is relieved when the hermit whisks the corpse about to the bewilderment of all, including the police who have arrived by this time.

At this point, the owner of Baldpate arrives and informs Magee that the whole mystery is a farce and that all of the visitors to the inn are members of a stock company who have been hired to prove that stories such as Magee writes are ridiculous. Everything is found to have been unreal except the girl Mary, and the curtain falls as she nods acceptance to Magee's proposal.

However, an epilogue reveals that the previous explanation was not the true one at all but that the whole occurrence is the novel which Magee has written in the twenty-four hours allotted. As the curtain falls for the last time, the Quimbys are seen reading the first pages of the story while Magee triumphantly informs his friend over the phone that he is coming to collect the $5,000.

"NO! NO! NANETTE"

Pauline (Cook at the Smiths)	Irene Bakke
Sue Smith (Jimmy's Wife)	Dorothy Kinkaid Irene Whiteside
Billy Early (a Lawyer)	Millard Loomis
Lucille (Billy's Wife)	Arlene Baxter Marjorie Burke
Nanette (a Protegé of Sue)	Jacqueline Kalushe

Perhaps it was through her rendition of "Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing," or maybe she simply "knew too much"; but Irene Bakke as Pauline, the dumb maid who "needn't be corrected because she was leaving any way," certainly managed to extort plenty of "hush money" during both performances of "No! No! Nanette," the opera presented by the Lincoln music department on the nights of March twenty-third and twenty-fourth.

The source of all the money was Vonn Wernecke, in the role of Jimmy Smith, the erstwhile Bible manufacturer, who succeeded all too well in getting himself and his lawyer friend, Billy Early (Millard Loomis), into many entertaining and embarrassing situations with their respective wives. Billy's wife (played on alternate nights by Arelene Baxter and Marjorie Burke) acted on the motto that the only way to keep a husband honest was to keep him broke. On the other hand, Jimmy's wife Sue (played by Dorothy Kincaid and Irene Whiteside) seemed unable to reconcile herself to the necessity of spending his money, although he repeatedly begged her to do so. As a result, Jimmy had to seek other means of disposing of his money and found a lot of enjoyment in making the life of his ward, Nanette, more happy, since she had always been admonished by Sue not to do this or that and so was very much discontented and unhappy. Jimmy also discovered that not all women were so unreasonably thrifty as his wife when he "met" three little girls who were quite willing to help him out of his difficulty by spending right and left. These broadminded maidens were Winnie from Washington, Betty from Boston, and Flora from 'Frisco, played by Nona Willis, Helen Tope, and Betty Lou Grant.

Jimmy was thoroughly happy for a while, but the Bible business soon began to decline; consequently Billy was assigned the task of "settling" with the three extravagant ladies, but as he had aroused his wife's suspicions, she persuaded Sue to join her in hiring a private detective to trail their husbands. This was so successful that while Jimmy was taking Nanette to his cottage by the seashore for the first real vacation of her life, his wife's investment bore fruit; and the whole matter of how his money was being spent was discovered. The conspirators' wives then sent telegrams, signed "Jimmy Smith," to the three young ladies, summoning them to the cottage by the sea, and then proceeded there themselves to watch the fun.

Imagine Jimmy's embarrassment when he found himself, not alone with Nanette and her brother (Bill Buhrman) as he had expected, but simply surrounded by difficulties in the persons of his wife and the young ladies whom he had "wanted to make happy." Billy soon relieved Jimmy of his worries by having him sign all his money over to Sue, but at the same time succeeded in shifting the blame for the whole matter upon himself, a fact which did not increase his popularity with his wife to any great degree. However, things were finally explained, and the matter was cleared up. Nanette married her adoring if Puritanical Tom Trainor (Jack Drew), and Jimmy found that his wife could spend all the money that printing Bibles could get him and some that it couldn't, but with human perverseness he was still not completely satisfied.

Two entr' acte songs by Doris Sierer and specialty dances by Betty Vickers, Erma Austin, Nona Willis, and Neil Nellis added greatly to the already enjoyable evening.

OUR activities—moments of play to ease up the work. And they were such fun! Chess was a nightly favorite for many — even after girls began to play, while the Boys' and Girls' Clubs, the "L" Clubs, the Lynx Club, and many others gave opportunities for recreation and service to all — frosh or senior, boy and girl alike.

With so many kinds, it was not hard to suit the tastes of all — but we still wonder why no one formed a cycling club.

BOYS' CLUB . . . . Established in 1910 and composed of all the boys of Lincoln, this "club without dues" has become the leading boys' organization of the school, with many tasks for the improvement of Lincoln entrusted to it. Under the supervision of Mr. Altman, the executive board of the club has very successfully managed its activities this year. Known as the Board of Control and composed of five seniors, two juniors, and one sophomore, this group appoints and supervises the fire, traffic, and other squads, administers the athletic fund, awards letters, sponsors vocational and avocational assemblies, and does everything it can to improve our school.

The officers who contributed so largely to the success of the club this year were elected by popular vote among the boys of the school. They were Jim Neander, president; Dave Le Grand, vice-president, and Warren Dundin, secretary. As the latter left school at the end of the first semester, Bob Whitwam was appointed to fill the vacancy.

GIRLS' CLUB . . . . Endeavoring to be like the pioneers of the past and thus carry out the "Pioneer" ideas of the Girls' Club, the officers and cabinet have made this year a very successful one. The ideals of Miss Johnson, the late advisor, who was a pioneer in Girls' Club work, gave the club its inspirational theme.

The officers want the girls of Lincoln to feel that the Girls' Club is an organization to promote not only social welfare and improvement but friendship, personality, and good cheer. For this reason the cabinet has inaugurated the informal "Cozies," with the hope that they will become a permanent part of the club.

Officers who contributed much to the club's success were Anne Marie Bottker, president; Pat Hagman, vice-president; Betsy McCutcheon, treasurer; Peggy Horrocks, corresponding secretary; and Betty Adams, recording secretary. Mrs. Cragg was advisor the first semester; and Miss Cole, the second.

Row 4. Myers, McCall, Weeks, Wettlaufer, Zirkle, Feroe, Mahin, Robbins, Kincaid.

TRIPLE "L" CLUB . . . . They've come through this year with flying colors; these thirty girls, chosen for their service, scholarship, and leadership, have continued to prove themselves worthy of the honor. Eighteen of them are seniors, but twelve will remain to carry on the work of the club next year.

The members of the club have served at Parent-Teachers' entertainments, helped maintain order in the lunch room, sponsored the Friendship Committee, and cooperated with the Girls' Club in every way.

The girls found much inspiration in the examples set by their officers, Mary Pindell, Helen Smith, Dawn Peterson, and by their sponsors, Miss Hensel and Miss Cole.

Row 1. Young, D. Young, Carpenter, Garski, Reger, Scott, White, Smith, Clark.

GIRLS' BIG "L" CLUB . . . . This year Big "L" has been bigger and better than ever. Good sportsmanship, athletics, and scholarship, three of the highest ambitions of any girl, are sponsored by the club. To have a Big "L" girls must have earned five hundred points in volleyball, basketball, hockey, baseball, track, golf, or hiking. This year the girls gave a party for the Mother Ryther children and sponsored the annual Hamilton Playday. Pat Hagman, president; Helen Dawson, secretary; and Ruth Feroe, treasurer, guided these forty-three active girls throughout the year. Miss Thompson, faculty sponsor, gave much of her time to make the club the success that it was.

Lynx Club . . . . As one of the three boys' service clubs of its type in the city, the Lynx Club, composed of twenty seniors and ten juniors chosen for service and leadership, has continued to help in many ways to make Lincoln a still better school. Under the supervision of its sponsor, Mr. Altman, its members have served in the library, the study hall, the lunch room, the halls, and at athletic contests, in addition to performing other duties necessary if our school is to function properly.

The officers who directed the work of the club the first semester were Ken Downie, president; Leonard Myhre, vice-president; and Watson Smith, secretary-treasurer. These were succeeded by Ken Cox, Bill Rose, and Bob Whitwam, the second semester.

Boys' Big "L" Club . . . . After a period of inactivity throughout the first semester the Boys' Big "L" Club, organized in 1921 and sponsored by Mr. Altman, has resumed its former activities.

The object set by the club was to maintain school spirit and good sportsmanship, to encourage interest in athletics, and to attain high scholastic standards among athletes.

The club is made up of those boys who have won their letters, have applied for admission, and have been accepted. The Big "L" program includes working at football and basketball games and guarding doors at assemblies.

The officers for the first semester were Jim Robinson, president; Bob Ramsey, vice-president; and John Robinson, secretary-treasurer. Officers elected to succeed them in the spring term were Bob Phair, John Robinson, and Dan Gray.

LINCOLN HI-Y .... The Hi-Y of Lincoln High School consists of about forty of the most prominent boys in the school. It is not restricted to boys developed in the field of athletics but is composed of members from all of the important activities of the school.

Meetings are held every Thursday at the "Lincoln Sweets Shop," more commonly known as the "Beanery." Interesting entertainment as well as discussions of student problems are offered at these meetings.

The officers for the fall term were Tom Powell, president; Bill Skinner, vice-president; Jim Robinson, secretary, and Bill Rose, Treasurer. At the spring elections Carl Faust was elected president; Bob Plumb, vice-president; Elmer Perkins, secretary, and Cornelius Fischer, treasurer. Mr. Carl Mapes, who was the adult advisor, had much to do with the success of the club.

FIRE SQUAD .... 'Tis two o'clock on any nice day when the sudden ringing of a bell interrupts us from studious contemplation of the binomial theorem, the statute of limitations, and similar perplexing subjects and sends us trooping down the stairs. Directed by the thirty boys of the fire squad, stationed at important points in and around the building, we soon find ourselves safely out of the building and across the street beyond all possible danger. The bell soon rings again, we return to our classes, and another of our regular bi-monthly fire drills has been satisfactorily completed, due to the efficiency of Lincoln's local fire department.

This group of junior and senior boys, led by John Robinson and sponsored by Mr. Altman, has continued to fill an important spot in the affairs of our school and has done remarkably well in handling the school's large enrollment.

Minute Girls . . . .

Place: Any roll room.
Time: School year 1933-1934.

Nancy Jane, the perfect minute girl, was elected as her roll's representative to the Girls' Club. Each semester she collected dues and passed out gay little red and black pins as receipts. Whenever the Girls' Club officers or cabinet had special messages for the girls, Nancy Janes attended the Minute Girls' meetings and in turn gave the message to the girls in her roll, where she also advertised the mixers and other social events of the club and managed the standard dress contests. Jean O'Connor was Nancy Jane's chief and represented her in the cabinet this year.

Usher Force . . . .

"Two rows over and the fourth seat, please."
"Here is your program, sir."

These are just two of the expressions which the girls of the usher force are likely to murmur in their sleep. The force is composed of sixteen girls from the Senior Honor Society. For the first time, a student was put in charge of the usher force; and Lora Beth Harrold filled this position very satisfactorily under the supervision of Miss Mary McKee. The group was unusually busy this year officiating at the Lynx Jinx, the Senior Play, the Mid-winter and Spring Concerts, and the Opera. The regulation dress of the force is a white middy and a dark skirt. Junior honor society girls, who will form the basis of the next year's force, ushered at commencement exercises.

TRAFFIC SQUAD .... The Lincoln Traffic Squad, headed by Don Ward and Elmer Perkins and composed of junior and senior boys, who are chosen at the beginning of each semester, has won for itself the distinction of being one of the most useful organizations in the school.

Members posted at the various stairways between periods have kept the crowds moving in the right direction and up the correct stairs. Members of the squad were awarded two merits for their services during the past two semesters by the Boys' Club.

The traffic squad has been an important factor in barring running in the halls and up stairs, preventing possible injuries resulting from such offenses.

MOTOR SQUAD

MOTOR SQUAD .... The Lincoln motor squad headed by Ray Shutt and Bill Haigh, and under the supervision of Mr. Altman, is composed of those junior and senior boys who have their cars at their disposal every day and are willing to use them in performing various school services.

The "taxi" force transported Lincoln's athletes to and from the athletic contests of the season, ran errands for members of the faculty, called for assembly speakers, took students home when ill, and did many other helpful services.

In return for these services which are of so much value to the school, the members of the squad were compensated for the gas used and were further rewarded with merits given them by the Board of Control.

THE STAGE AND TICKET FORCE . . . . Lincoln doffs its cap to its excellent stage force, which during the past two semesters has made itself worthy of distinctive notice. Behind the scenes and with little recognition, they worked many hours in planning and preparing for musical and dramatic productions; and those who enjoyed these entertainments can bear witness to the quality of their work.

The fourteen boys who made up the stage force were managed by Bill Harrold. The part played by Miss McAllaster was indispensable to the success of the production.

Closely allied with the stage force in making Lincoln's entertainments the success they were was the Ticket Force composed of Jack Oman and Harvey Fullerton, working with Mr. Muckelstone as advisor. They successfully handled all tickets for school productions, athletic contests, and dances.

READERS' CLUB . . . . The Readers' Club was organized a few years ago by students who were interested in exchanging views on the various books they had read. Since then it has broadened its interest until they include not only books but also the closely-related subject of writing. Any student interested in any phase of literature was welcome to open a discussion of it, and many interesting programs resulted from this practice. Guest speakers were invited to speak several times, and the newer ideas that they brought were especially welcomed by the club. Among these was a talk on "House of Exile" and other new books of the year, while Miss Schofield spoke on Spanish art, and Miss Graves gave a very interesting report on the "Autobiography of Lincoln Steffens." Besides these there were many reports by students on books of interest to them, which were followed by group discussions. Other programs included a discussion of Hugh Walpole's books; a report on "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "A Miniature Circus," with a report on the "Life of P. T. Barnum," and other shorter articles pertaining to the same subject. Appropriate circus refreshments were served.

Those heading the club this year were Ann West, president; Althea Diehl, vice-president; and Miss Elizabeth Graves, sponsor.

HONOR SOCIETY . . . . The Honor Society, composed of the students who rank in the upper twelve per cent of the school in scholarship and service to the school, is sponsored by Miss Lutie Cheatham. The sophomores in the society number 127; the juniors, 84; and the seniors, 106. The sophomore one-bar pin is awarded when 24 grade points are secured; the junior two-bar pin, when this is raised to 50; and 78 points merit a torch pin. Any seniors attaining 108 points are awarded their torch pin permanently.

TOTEM WEEKLY . . . . A door slams; a typewriter clicks noisily; a crumpled wad of paper goes sailing by to land unexpectedly in a nearby waste basket; a young man with a worried look sits at a desk and stares while sheets of typed copy, white paper proofs, orange paper proofs, and the ever-present "dummy" obscure his blurred vision.

Where can you find such a condition in Lincoln? Just stroll around to the journalism room some day when the Lincoln "Totem Weekly" is in the process of being written and edited. If your observation was made during the spring semester, the worried looking young man would have been Owen Onsum, Editor-in-Chief. If it had been during the fall semester, the vacant stare would have belonged to Bill Haigh.

TOTEM WEEKLY—FIRST SEMESTER

TOTEM WEEKLY—SECOND SEMESTER

The jokes and features that are so much a part of the school paper were written by Ted Simpson, first semester, and Bob Ward, second.

And who has the honor of recording the brilliant touchdowns, the fatal baskets, and winning track events for the year? First semester, John Lundberg, Walter Coggan and Wallace Millson occupied the sport office. Charles Kambe, Leonard Pugsley, Paul Schatz, and Harold Torbergson followed them.

Over at her desk, with a pile of papers before her, deciphering the scribblings of the reporters, was Miss Bernice Dahl, faculty sponsor of the Totem. She works on, midst the slamming doors, clicking typewriters, sailing papers, and vacant stares as the Lincoln Totem goes to press.

ANNUAL STAFF . . . . "Mamma, who are those queer little people one finds lurking in the dark depths of the Lincoln halls? Every now and then one of them comes out to entice a juicy morsel of information from a Lincoln celebrity, and I am a little worried. Are they dangerous?"

"No, my child, those are just the members of the annual staff."

Ever since about March first the annual staff has been working to make this Totem the best of all Lincoln annuals. Anyone who has ever stepped into the annual office wonders how it is possible to make order from such chaos. However, the success of this book may be attributed to the Editor, Ken Cox, and the efficient staff.

At last, the worried frown has ceased to crease the editor's brow, but he now awaits with a shy smile of anticipation the verdict of the student body.

DEBATE . . . . Lincoln's debate team would have finished a second year as champions had it not been for the last debate with Broadway, which resulted in defeat by one-fourth point. The season totaled the team six victories and two losses. The team owes much of this year's success to its coach, Earl S. Cochran, who, due to the illness of Mr. Fitch, did the entire job of coaching.

The all-city debate question for the first semester was: "Resolved: That tariffs should be reduced by reciprocal agreements among the nations." Those upholding the affirmative side were Nona Fumerton, questioner, and Paul Duling, speaker, who defeated Queen Anne and Roosevelt. Marion Curtin, speaker, and Kenneth Cox, questioner, argued for the negative, winning from Cleveland and Garfield.

Upper: Marion Curtin, Mr. Cochran, Nona Fumerton, Pat Hagman. Lower: Al Morris, Paul Duling, Kenneth Cox.

The second semester, the question debated was: "Resolved: That a policy of state medicine and hospitalization should be adopted by the several states." This time Nona Fumerton and Alfred Morris composed the affirmative team which defeated West Seattle and Ballard, and Marion Curtin and Kenneth Cox were again on the negative, which lost to Franklin and Broadway.

The debate club also sponsored the Freshmen-Sophomore debates with various schools and the inter-roll debates in which twenty rolls participated with Miss Blough's roll, represented by Jack Putnam and Paul Bjorklund, winning the pennant.

Lincoln's representatives in other all-city public speaking contests were Pat Hagman in oratory and Nona Fumerton in extemporaneous speaking, who placed second and third, respectively.

LATIN CLUB . . . . The Latin Club, composed of past and present Latin students and sponsored by Miss Hendricks, has completed a successful year, the membership having increased to a total of one hundred sixteen, of whom eighty are active members.

The meetings were held on the last Monday of each month, when excellent programs were presented and refreshments were served. All this was planned and arranged by the Social Committee, headed by Barbara Ellis.

Several programs featured speakers, among whom were Kenneth Cox, who talked on his trip to the World's Fair; Mr. Renny of the Y. M. C. A., who spoke on "Ancient Rome and Dances by Lois Keller, Barbara Ellis, and others, a dramatization of a part of Caesar's Gallic Wars by Bill Buhrman and Betty Lee Wilkens, and a program of classical music by Margaret Cannon, pianist, and a trio composed of Marylin Ellis, violin; Barbara Ellis, cello, and Ellen Dudgeon, piano, were features of the entertainment enjoyed by the members. Several lively parties and a hike to Golden Gardens were also popular features of the club's social program.

Those chosen to head the club this year were Ralph Duby, president; Rex Kincaid, vice-president, and Marian Curtin, secretary-treasurer.

LE CLUB FRANCAIS . . . . La première réunion du Cercle Français a eu lieu le 12 octobre. On a élu les officiers suivants: Bob Goranson, président; Kenneth Day, vice-président; Eugene Culbertson, secrétaire; Douglas Hardy, trésorier. Chaque officier a fait un petit discours en français pour remercier les sociétaires et pour dire qu'il ferait de son mieux pour diriger les affaires du Club.

Pendant le premier semestre nous avons eu quatre réunions intéressantes. Les programmes ont été variés, et bien reçus. A la première réunion, M. Maurice Denny, a parlé en français de son voyage dans l'Orient. Deux élèves ont dansé, les membres ont chanté des chansons françaises, et la séance s'est terminée par des rafraichissements.

Pour le 21 décembre, le comité des programmes a preparé une petite pièce Guignol, intitulée "La Cuisinière." Plusieurs élèves ont preparé les marionnettes et joué les rôles de la pièce. Bernadine Playford a chanté, d'une manière charmante, des cantiques de Noël, après quoi les membres ont chanté en choeur.

Pour le deuxième semestre on a élu les officiers suivants: Bertine Daw, présidente; Lois Stewart, vice-présidente; Joanna Osborne, secrétaire; Jane Norton, trésorière. On a arrangé un echange de lettres entre les élèves de nos classes de français et ceux des écoles en France. Un comité a été nommé pour entreprendre les premières démarches de cette activité.

Les réunions de février et de mars ont été aussi réjouissantes que les précédantes. Il est à croire que l'intérêt, temoigné par notre groupe nombreux continuera pendant le reste de l'année.

El Club Espanol .... El Club Espanol de la Escuela Superior de Lincoln llegó a ser muy activo, gracias a la eficaz dirección de la senorita Bush y la senorita Schofield, Bajo la presidente, Ruth Zwarg; el vice-présidente, Maurice Pepin; el secretario, John Hannum; tesorera, Helen Taylor, el club tuvo una vida muy activa y próspera.

Los programas mensuales del club fueron a cargo de los estudiantes y tuvieron un gran éxito. Se representó una variedad de programas de un tipo espanol. Varias personas nos hicieron el honor de hablarnos sobre la vida y las costumbres de la América del Sur y México, y por El senor Charles Butt dió un discurso sobre las costumbres y la vida de la ciudad de México. La senorita Jeannette Perry habló de su viaje en Yucatán, México.

Un grupo de senoritas estudiaron varias canciones regionales de México y Espana que resultaron muy bien. Los socios presentaron algunas comedias muy divertidas de un tipo espanol característico.

Podemos recordar con orgullo los programas del ano que nos han dado un contacto más estrecho con la vida y cultura de los espanoles, y hemos adelantado mucho en la cultivación de los ideales de nuestro club.

CURTAIN CLUB . . . . The Curtain Club is an organization devoted to the appreciation and production of good drama. The members make this purpose their aim and attempt to forward the interest in dramatics throughout the student body. Under the sponsorship of Miss Ione Grindrod the club has made great strides since its reorganization in 1932; it is now one of the most active clubs at Lincoln.

Meetings, held the second and fourth Tuesday of every school month, include very interesting programs, usually featuring one or two plays or a speaker.

The membership is divided into two groups, the active and associate. The associate members have all the privileges of active members except the right to carry on business. Active members are voted in from the associate body.

Besides activity in the group, the club has also been of great service to the school in managing a Lincoln matinee at the Repertory Playhouse. The make-up committee, under the direction of Miss Sayres, has proved itself indispensable to the success of every production of the school year.

Officers elected for the fall semester were Harry Priestly, president; Ralph Presnall, vice-president; Ted Baughn, secretary; Ann West, historian. Due to occupation with parts in various productions, Ted Baughn was relieved of his duties; and Dorothy Fowler was appointed to fill his position.

During the spring semester the above officers were re-elected with the exception of Paul Donaldson and Margaret Sessa as secretary-treasurer and assistant.

MUSIC CLUB . . . . Lincoln's Music Club is composed of those who are interested or talented in music and are active in the orchestra, chanters, or some other branch of the music department. No one can become a member unless he has earned at least one credit in a music course.

With its purpose to teach appreciation and understanding of music and to give those participating in the club a chance to hear and study music of all types, the club has completed its seventh year of activity under the sponsorship of Miss Marjorie Pidduck.

Its bi-weekly meetings in Room 112 featured many interesting programs, most of which were provided by the members of the club, although one guest artist was heard during the year. The outstanding program presented for the club was a Christmas Party built around the theme of "A Night Before Christmas" presented as a reading set to music by Betty Lou Grant.

Other talented entertainers were a trio composed of Margaret Cannon, pianist; Catherine Orth, violinist; and Jack Orth, cellist; Bill Jenkins and George Bartleson, clarinetists; Volney Pinkerton, who played several trombone solos; Dorothy Stevens and Robert Anderson, violin soloists; and Jack Drew and others who entertained with various vocal selections.

One of the most popular of the club's guest artists was Eric Koker, violinist of the Seattle Symphony Orchestra, who addressed the members on "Music Appreciation."

The officers elected for the year were Betty Lou Grant, president; Genevieve Treacy, vice-president; Catherine Orth, secretary; and Margaret Cannon, treasurer.

MUSIC .... "All right, we'll take that again"—and the senior orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Pitzer, proceeds to clear up a difficult phrase. It is this untiring faithfulness and repetition that make Lincoln's orchestra rank with the best. While providing enjoyment and entertainment in concerts, operas, and assemblies, members of the Senior Orchestra are given one full credit towards graduation.

The school's other chief instrumental group is its band, the greatest exponents of school spirit. Its members are to be found at all pep assemblies and football games, and hopes are never so low that they are not still playing to help Lincoln win.

JUNIOR ORCHESTRA

Row 4. Mr. Pitzer.

CHANTERS . . . . The popularity and the numbers of the Chanters, Lincoln's most important group of singers, have grown until it is one of the largest and most vitally active groups at Lincoln. At present there are eighty-eight boys and girls privileged to wear the white sweaters and red and black emblems which indicate their membership in this group. In addition to taking an important part in many assemblies, the Lynx Jinx, the opera, and two concerts, the group has had various engagements outside the school where it has added still further to the fame of Lincoln's music department.

CHANTERS—THIRD PERIOD

Row 1. Hord, Busse, Juhlin, Gamble, Lynn, Horsely, Pollock, Santmeyer, Miley, Paylor, Ramsey, Anderson. Row 2. Marshall, Willis, Bell, Middaugh, Harding, Mitchell, Mr. Pitzer, Edwards, Markely, Curtiss, Johnson, Twedt. Row 3. Smith, Libby, Bakke, Fletcher, Cantrell, Calhoun, Duncan, Zirkle, Keil, Magnuson, Erickson, Bach. Row 4. Cole, Hoyt, Maloy, Loomis, Settergren, Beaty, O'Malley, Simonsen, Jorgensen, Nagel, Sawyer, Armstrong. Row 5. Savery, Dahl, Cole, Merrifield, Neal, Hume, Barton, Zimmerman, Curtin, Larson, Schmidt, Austin. Row 6. Putnam, Ferber, Fawcett, Bergman, Robinson, Barnes.

GLEE CLUBS . . . . Exceeding the Chanters in numbers, the glee clubs, under the direction of Miss Pidduck and Miss Wilson, are fertile sources of talent for the more advanced group. Here it is that our aspiring vocalists receive their first training and start on the road to an opera lead—who knows! Although they make no public appearances as do the Chanters and have no sweater, still their hard work is not unrewarded, for they receive a half credit per semester towards graduation.

GIRLS' GLEE—FIFTH PERIOD

JAPANESE CLUB . . . . In an effort to promote a more intimate feeling of friendliness and understanding between the American and Japanese students of this school, the Lincoln Japanese Club was founded two years ago under the sponsorship of Mrs. Katharine A. Bailey.

Since then, although limited in members, the club has managed to take an active part in school life. A very successful jiu-jitsu exhibition, carried out before a huge crowd of students in the south lunch room, featured the first year's work. Two tea parties comprised the social highlights, while a pair of main-hall displays attracted considerable attention.

This year's main project was a three-act play entitled "Momotaro," which pictured the adventures of a young boy-hero of ancient times. It was presented at the Green Lake Field House before the Wallingford Unit of the Seattle Music and Art Foundation.

Other activities included the packing of several Christmas food boxes, a party honoring Mayko Kumasaka, class salutatorian, an especially entertaining initiation meeting, and the regular club meetings held on alternate Thursdays.

THE CHESS CLUB . . . . The faithful followers of that great game of chess come into their own in the Chess Club. This club has existed for some time under the sponsorship of Mr. Sherrick.

Although no inter-school meets have been held, many interesting tournaments have taken place in the club. Prominent among these was the Kriegspiel Tournament, which attracted much attention. In this tournament the player moved without seeing the plays of his opponent. A plain elimination tournament was also held in which eleven players were entered, the winner to receive a fine chess set as first prize.

The Chess Club meets after school every Tuesday with about fifteen members present usually. For the last semester Ray MacDonald has served as president and leader of the club, succeeding Kenneth Day, president, the first semester.

THE STAMP CLUB . . . . As a result of a natural death of the Hobby Club, a new organization has sprung up. The Stamp Club was organized on the first Thursday of April of this year. With George Chew as the president, the club completed the year with many successful and interesting meetings. Wayne Smuck served as the vice-president for the semester with Owen Crammer as the secretary-treasurer. The object of the organization is to learn the kinds and varieties of stamps and to acquaint the members with the stamps of the various countries and the way in which the stamps reflect the history and geography of the country.

During the semester an exhibition of interesting stamps was held, and prizes were awarded the winners. Several enthusiastic speakers were heard throughout the semester. It is the hope of the club to get a greater number of people interested in the organization in the future.

Miss Westhold was the faculty advisor.

THE HAPPY PHILOSOPHERS . . . . Lincoln's Happy Philosophers, composed of the alumni and a majority of the Junior and Senior Classes, with Miss Allie Blough as sponsor, have disseminated good cheer and a greater democracy throughout the school. The countersign being a smile, Lincoln's halls have fairly radiated the buoyant spirit of the rejuvenated student body.

Every Happy Philosopher is president; thus the purpose of the group is what he would have it—at least to spread good cheer. With the backing of the Happy Phi's, every constructive activity at Lincoln has put on steam and forged ahead. To enlarge the group for general interest, more friendships, and greater and more Lincoln spirit, each member acquaints his or her friends with the nature of the group and invites them to join. Meetings: every morning, noon, and night, with special meetings announced. Attendance: tolerance being the rule, members attend meetings only when they desire. Gloomy students have had to cheer up so as not to be mistaken for students of other high schools. Sports: The Happy Philosophers have emphasized sports and have put on several snappy Pep Assemblies and demonstrations. The members leave school this June with a pleasant feeling of work well done and with bigger and better ideas for the future.

TOO much credit cannot be given to the athletes, coaches, and sports fans of Lincoln for their untiring efforts in making this institution renowned for its outstanding teams whether it be on the gridiron or on the cinder path. Lincoln teams have come to be known as a real opponent to any school. Impressive records in all branches of sports have placed the Railsplitters on a level that is second to none in Seattle. In the hope of capturing the spirit of Lincoln sport rivalry in the following accounts, I wish to dedicate this section to all Lincoln athletes who justly deserve each little honor that may be bestowed upon them for the splendid services they have rendered to Lincoln.

CHEER LEADERS . . . . Pepping up school spirit is their job—yes, it's the Lincoln yell leaders. They did their part to liven up pep assemblies and turn out a rooting student body at all athletic events this year. An enthusiastic, school-spirited student body helps the morale of any team. Add a snappy squad of leaders to direct the yells, and the psychological effect on the team is at once apparent.

Yell leaders this year were Bill Buhrman, Millard Loomis, Bob Rettig, Forrest Ritscher, George Compton, yell dukes; Don Davidson, yell king.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS . . . . Responsible in a large degree for the success of any team, the managers, at the same time, receive as little praise as their efforts are great. They are responsible for equipment and turnout attendance and must see that everything runs as smoothly as possible. Although they receive a manager's letter for their work, the "manage" outfit is entitled to a great big hand.

Head managers this year were: Football, Jerry Mangan; basketball, Bill Skinner; baseball, Leonard Pugsley; track, Joe Patterson.

"THE VARSITY"

THE FOOTBALL SEASON . . . . Displaying a fine offensive in the opening tilt against a heavy Roosevelt squad, the Railsplitter aggregation proved to be light but fast, both in the forward wall and backfield. Then the brilliant comeback fight in the final quarter of a hard-fought game with Queen Anne after trailing the Hilltoppers for three quarters impressed the Lincoln student body with the fact that they had a team possessing plenty of grit and "do-or-die" fighting spirit. The Lynx then disposed of Broadway in an easy fashion, tied Franklin on a rain-soaked field, and eked out a close win over West Seattle. Then came the eagerly awaited Garfield game. Lincoln's defeat, after being stopped in their last minute fight for a winning touchdown by means of a pass from the Bulldog twenty-one yard line, only to have it intercepted by Garfield and converted into a touchdown, brought the most colorful football game in the history of Seattle high schools to a dramatic close. After both teams and spectators had trooped home to their Thanksgiving dinners, the Lynx were firmly entrenched in second place.

During the season several outstanding players showed their ability in the line and in the backfield. Jim Neander, Al Cruver, and Bill Pate led the ball carriers, while Tom Powell, Leonard Warren, Jim Robinson, and Dick Thurston were outstanding in the line.

With an entire letterman team expected back next year, Lincoln football prospects for the 1934 season do not look at all gloomy.

LINCOLN 28; ROOSEVELT 6

In the first game of the 1933 football season the Lincoln team crushed a heavier Roosevelt squad 28-6 in a game that placed the Lynx eleven definitely in the championship race by reason of its brilliant offensive play. This game brought to light a snappy Lincoln offense with plenty of scoring plays that paved the way for touchdowns in the second, third, and fourth quarters by Powell, John Robinson, Hanson, and Gordon.

The exceptionally good place kicking exhibited by Cruver and Pate showed that the Lynx were able to follow up their scoring plays with well directed conversions.

LINCOLN 27; BROADWAY 0

Faced with the jinx game of the year, the Lynx came through with an unspectacular victory over the Tigers to avenge a thirteen-year-old defeat by the same score. Receiving the opening kickoff the Lynx marched the length of the field to cross the Bengal goal and at half time were well out in front 20-0. The final score came in the fourth period with the second string on the field. Jim Neander, John Robinson and Warren Dundin were the sparkplugs of the backfield. Al Cruver, the try-for-point artist, made all but one conversion. Tom Powell, Leonard Warren and Dan Gray played a fine game in the line.

LINCOLN 14; QUEEN ANNE 7

In a game that has not in recent years been equalled for hard-fighting, spine-tickling play, the brilliantly red-suited Lynx eleven came back in the second half, trailing Queen Anne by seven points, and chalked up two touchdowns late in the fourth period to win 14-7.

The pre-game dope was that Queen Anne's weight advantage would bring them victory, and at the half time seemed true. A new fighting Lincoln team, however, trotted out upon the field and in the final quarter executed two sensational scoring plays: the first, a lateral from Neander to Dundin on the Kuay six-yard line and the conversion by Cruver tied the score; the second, a nineteen yard pass from Neander to Powell, who took it on the ten-yard line, and the conversion by Cruver put the final score 14-7 in favor of the Lynx.

Lincoln's line, playing against a forward wall outweighing them thirty pounds to the man, did a fine job in paving the way for the backs. Dick Thurston, Leonard Warren, Dan Gray, and Tom Powell stood out on defense. The offense was sparked by Jim Neander, Warren Dundin, and Al Cruver. Lincoln was on the championship trail.

LINCOLN 0; FRANKLIN 0

In a game marked by numerous fumbles and a water-soaked field, which slowed down the Lynx offensive, the title-ambitious Railsplitters tied a fighting Quaker eleven from Franklin, 0-0. The bright spot of the Lincoln backfield was the fine kicking of Jim Neander, Lynx halfback, who returned the ball deep into Quaker territory upon several occasions. Although Lincoln's light line was handicapped by the slow field, Tom Powell, Jim Robinson, Jim Goodland and Shorty Warren sparked the Lynx forward wall to equal that of the heavier Franklin line. As a result of the tie Lincoln was required to win the remaining two games for the championship.

LINCOLN 7; WEST SEATTLE 0

Scoring late in the first half in a game against an inspired West Seattle team, the Railsplitters were forced to be content with a seven point margin the duration of the game. The greatest part of the game was played by the Lynx second string who displayed good reserve power. The Westsiders threatened to score late in the fourth quarter by a pass to the Lincoln seventeen-yard line, but Gordon intercepted to save the day for the Northenders. The team did not look like a championship eleven, but they kept their league standing and gained the right to play for the city championship.

LINCOLN 7; GARFIELD 19

In a Thanksgiving Day charity game played before the largest crowd ever to witness a high school game in the Northwest, Lincoln lost a close championship game to Garfield, 7-19, in the University of Washington Stadium. Lincoln's score resulted from a pass by Bill Pate on the Lincoln twenty-four-yard line to Bob Gordon in the end zone. In the second quarter with Garfield leading 13-7, Lincoln gained possession of the ball on the Bulldog forty-six-yard line where Dundin broke away on a forty-four-yard run, only to be tackled on the two-yard line, where the Lynx lost the ball on a fumble. The Lynx came back in the third quarter determined to even the 13-7 score with a touchdown. Finding themselves unable to penetrate the Bulldog line, they took to the air in the fourth period and advanced the ball on several nicely executed passes to the twenty-yard line where they were held for three downs. The last Lynx threat ended when Cruver's pass to Gordon was intercepted to end Lincoln's championship hopes.

SECOND TEAM FOOTBALL . . . . Lincoln's football reserves emerged at the end of the season with an unblemished record of five straight victories to tie with Garfield and Queen Anne for the second team championship.

The final championship game was postponed because of the opening of the basketball season.

This year's squad upheld the second team record of two years' play without their goal-line being crossed. Scoring 102 points for the season, they at no time have scored less than two touchdowns.

Coach Boselly's Frosh were used in several games, playing against first string lettermen. Against West Seattle five frosh were in the Lincoln line-up playing opposite four first team players; the final score was 12 to 0 for the Lynx.

Second team letter winners are: Gail Leslie, Tom Moench, John Van Etten, Paul Carey, Clayton Stotts, Howard Cruver, Bill Marx, Elling Ellingson, Fred Carlson, and Mark Allen.

THE BASKETBALL SEASON . . . . Molding a team around two lettermen, Mangan and Spinner, Coach Nollan's 1934 basketball edition won an upper berth at the end of an unspectacular season. The Lynx schedule was studded with several of the season's outstanding teams, mainly Ballard, the title winners, Franklin, and Cleveland, who incidentally produced a very strong and colorful team to the surprise of several title-ambitious quintets. The Railsplitters claimed seven wins and five defeats for the season to place fifth in the league standings. Making a poor start by dropping their first game to Franklin in the season's opener, the Lynx looked better against West Seattle and Broadway. Surprised and beaten by Cleveland in their first meeting, the Lynx turned to Queen Anne to gather an easy win from the Hilltoppers. Ballard's lightning pass attack proved too much for the Abes, who dropped the contest in the final game of the first half of the season. Starting the second half of the series, the Railsplitters took four out of six games, dropping their second to Franklin and repeating their victories over West Seattle, Broadway, and Queen Anne, while Cleveland also fell to the Lynx. Ballard took their second game from the Lynx after a bitterly fought four periods of real basketball played in the Beaver gym. The Lincoln quintet undoubtedly played their finest game of the season against the league leaders, although they did not bring home a victory.

LINCOLN 19; FRANKLIN 21

Opening the 1934 basketball season in the Lincoln gym, the Lynx dropped their first game to the Franklin Quakers 21-19. At half time the score stood 16-12 favoring the Quakers, who kept their lead throughout the contest, despite a Lincoln rally in the last half.

LINCOLN 23; WEST SEATTLE 21

Led by Jerry Mangan and Carl Faust, who garnered thirteen and six points respectively, the Railsplitters won their first game of the season in the Indian gym. The Lynx started fast in the first quarter and by half time led the Westsiders 16-13. The game became close in the final quarter with the Indians sinking several long shots, but they were unable to catch the Northside quintet.

LINCOLN 36; BROADWAY 20

Playing a vastly superior brand of ball, the Lynx came through with a 36-20 victory with Jerry Mangan leading the way with ten points. A superior Lincoln offensive showed the better passing and marksmanship throughout the game. Bill Pate and Herb Lavan were also on the basket with seven and six points apiece.

LINCOLN 31; QUEEN ANNE 14

Leading 13-8 in a listless first half, the Railsplitters opened up in the last half to tally 18 points to the Kuays 6. Phair and Mangan were high point men with 10 and 12 counters respectively.

LINCOLN 16; BALLARD 33

Unable to meet Ballard's passing attack, the Lynx came out on the short end of a 33-16 score in a game played on the home floor. Commencing their stalling period in the fourth quarter while leading 22-14, the Beavers met with the wholehearted disapproval of the Lynx rooters.

LINCOLN 27; CLEVELAND 39

Playing an unusually strong Cleveland quintet, the Lynx bowed before a sustained Eagle attack in the third quarter, following a fast first half, which saw the score stand 18-17 for the "Giant-Killers."

LINCOLN 15; FRANKLIN 26

Holding the Lynx to only three points in the last half despite a hard-fought first period, the Quakers took the long end of a 26-15 score. Bill Pate and Bob Phair were outstanding for Lincoln.

LINCOLN 34; WEST SEATTLE 27

Exhibiting an eighteen-point scoring spree in the final quarter to climax a hitherto sluggish game, the Lynx took a 34-27 victory from the Indians in the West Seattle gym. Mangan was high point man, with Schatz and Lavan playing good ball for Lincoln.

LINCOLN 37; BROADWAY 16

The Railsplitters again defeated the Bengals in their own gym. The game was featured by the scoring spree exhibited by Jerry Mangan and Jim Spinner, who gathered fourteen and nine points respectively.

LINCOLN 24; QUEEN ANNE 12

Duplicating itself in the second game with the Kuays, the Lynx again romped the Hill-toppers and were at no time in serious difficulty. Jerry Mangan was high point man with ten points.

LINCOLN 21; BALLARD 25

Leading 14-13 at the half, the Lynx Hoopsters gave the league-leading Beavers a real battle but were stopped short in the last quarter. Bill Pate and Bob Phair were outstanding in Lincoln's offense, while Herb Lavan showed up well on defense.

LINCOLN 20; CLEVELAND 12

Playing host to Cleveland on the home floor, the Lynx quintet took revenge for their previous defeat and drubbed the Eagles decisively. Bob Phair, high point man, Carl Faust; and Jim Spinner looked good for the Lynx.

SECOND TEAM BASKETBALL

SECOND TEAM BASKETBALL . . . . The Lynx second team basketball squad closed a successful season by taking second place in the standings with a record of 7 victories, 3 ties, and 1 defeat.

The scrubs triumphed over Franklin, West Seattle, Broadway, Queen Anne, and Cleveland and tied with Franklin, Ballard and Broadway. Their defeat was received at the hands of the league leaders: the Ballard Beavers.

Basketball possibilities next year are strengthened by the most outstanding of the scrubs: Martin Faust, Clayton Stotts, Bill MacDonald, Norman Williams, and Laurence Pepin. Faust has shown nice floor-work this season, while Stotts has been the offensive star. A potential center for next year is found in Bill MacDonald, who completed a fine season at this position.

Williams and Pepin showed good teamwork at several positions this season and will fit in several next season if necessary.

Eleven players received their second team letters this year: Cruver, Fattorini, Faust, Husseman, Lockert, MacDonald, Pepin, Perkins, Stotts, Van Etten, and Williams.

TRACK 1933-1934 .... Bringing home to Lincoln a track championship for the first time in eleven years, the 1933 cindermen completed a successful season by winning all meets by decisive margins and wresting the crown from Garfield, the previous year's title-holders.

This year the Lynx find themselves defending champions with one victory over Roosevelt to their credit. They have, at this writing, yet to meet the Bulldogs, who will undoubtedly offer the stiffest opposition the Railsplitters will face this season. In cold figures the Lynx are apparently headed for their second successive year of track supremacy.

The Lynx present a well-balanced squad plus a few individual stars such as Captain Art Kidd in the sprints; Bob Phair, high jumper and hurdler; Bob Gordon, in the 440 and 880; Harry Clemenston, pole vaulter; and Al Cruver in the weights. All have turned in impressive performances so far this year and will offer plenty of competition on both track and field. Al Cruver, Jim Goodland, Bruce Anderson, Jim McComb, Bob Phair, Ray Aurelio, Dick Pence, and Clayton Stotts constitute Lincoln's hopes in the field events this year. Lincoln has yet to win a championship this year, so it is up to the track squad to bring the track championship home again this year.

1934 Track Season . . . . In their first meet as defending champions, the Lynx showed themselves to be as strong as last year by defeating Roosevelt 74-39 as contrasted with last year's victory of 73-40.

Captain Art Kidd took all the honors in the sprints and promises to be as outstanding the duration of the season. He is ably supported by Ray Shutt. Gordon and Nelson are running the 440 event, Gordon having taken first against Roosevelt and Nelson coming in a close second.

Dixon Garner surprised the fans by nosing out older competitors to take the 880 honors. The sophomore flash turned in the fine time of 2:05.2 with Gordon less than a yard behind him.

The Lynx relay team composed of Shutt, Neander, Lamprey, and Kidd in order of their running have turned in good time this year, although disqualified in the Roosevelt meet.

Two seniors, Cruver and Goodland, are the men who represent the Lynx in the shot and discus events, with Cruver approaching 48 feet in the shot and 120 in the discus.

The Lynx have two exceptionally fine high jumpers in Phair and McComb, both of whom are challenging the present record of 6 feet ½ inch. Both have cleared 5 feet 11 inches so far this year and should be the class of the high jumpers in the All-City Meet.

In Clemenston the Lynx have a fine pole vaulter. He has cleared the bar at 11 feet 6 inches so far this year and threatens the all-time record of 12 feet ½ inch. Running close to Clemenston are Pence, Aurelio, and Ejde.

Spinner, Phair, and Neander are Lincoln's hopes in the hurdles.

A broad jump of over 21 feet has been reached by Anderson, who is closely followed by Stotts and Phair with jumps of over 20.

Rogers, Donoghue, Francis, and O'Laughlin are closely bunched in the mile event. The loss of Dave LeGrand weakened Lincoln's chances in this department.

THE BASEBALL SEASON .... Showing a strong pre-season record in practice games, Coach Boselly's nine, with eight lettermen back and bolstered by several capable newcomers, looked like an up-and-coming ball team. It took only four games, however, to disillusion the Lynx. Ballard, whom the Abes had previously beaten in practice, took advantage of seven Lincoln errors and a well-placed hit in the ninth to carry a 6-5 victory back to the lowlands. Cleveland, however, fell to the Railsplitters in a well-pitched game by Bob Johnson, 5-1. Gene Maidment, Johnny Van Etten, and Corky Johnson led the attack with two hits apiece, while Maidment and Pop Smith got a triple and double respectively. Against Roosevelt at Lower Woodland, Lincoln was tied 1-1 in the first of the ninth, when a set of singles, a walk, and a triple by the Teds took the game off the ice. Again they loaded the bases and connected for a homer, bringing in eight runs during the inning, to set the final score 9-1 for the Cowen Park nine. In the last game to date the Lynx were smothered beneath a barrage of well-placed hits by Garfield on the east-side lot, losing the one-sided contest 22-3. Lincoln's chuckers were unable to match the Bulldog sluggers, who accounted for ten runs in the fourth inning alone. A weak battery and twelve errors in the field tells the story.

With eight juniors and five sophomores of this year's squad back next year, the 1935 Lynx baseball edition should be a more experienced and wiser ball team. There have been too many in-field errors this year—far too many. The Lynx have lacked the power and drive to carry them on through nine innings of ball against stiff competition; but, and no excuses are being tendered, the squad is primarily composed of players who have yet one or two more years ahead of them at Lincoln. Only two players are to be lost by graduation: Captain John Robinson and Ron Graham. With this in mind a summary of next year's prospective line-up might prove interesting. Starting with the chuckers, we find Henry Chevalier and Bob Johnson to be the most promising. Both have two more years of baseball ahead of them and easily comprise the strongest batteries the Lynx can muster. Supporting them are Pate, Ray Erickson, a freshman, and Gene Maidment, who is being groomed for possible service on the mound. Next in line are the first baggers consisting of Bill MacDonald, Gene Maidment, and Bill Pate; all have seen service this year. MacDonald, however, is fast developing into a good defensive player and, if brushed up on offense, will undoubtedly see plenty of action next spring. Larry Pepin at second, on the other hand, is a good batter but has contracted too many errors this season. Next year should see Pepin an improved fielder with this year's experience behind him. Third base is being covered by Corky Johnson, who will also return next year. Bill Marx, a sophomore, has seen little service behind the batters so far this year but has shown himself to be a steady player. The shortstop position has been filled by Bob Ramsey and Bill Pate, at intervals, this year but has yet to find a steady performer. In the outfield we find the squad's finest player, offensively and defensively, Johnny Van Etten. He very capably guards the center field and has another year to display his wares. Van Etten is flanked by either Bob Ramsey or Eddie Sevold to the right and a potential outfielder in the person of Martin Faust to the left.

Row 1. Stan Atwood, Millard Loomis, Elmer Sandell, Lyle Watson, Dick Amidon.
Row 2. Leonard Wilson, Edmund Torkelson, Ronald Rix.

TENNIS . . . . Under the able coaching of R. D. Kellogg the Railsplitters' tennis sextet is progressing rapidly. At the time of writing, Lincoln has played only three matches, winning from Ballard 6-3; West Seattle 8-1; and losing to Garfield 5-1, putting them in a tie for second place.

In the ladder competition so far the players are rated as follows: Elmer Sandell, Lyle Watson, Dick Amidon, Ed Torkelson, Len Wilson, and Millard Loomis. This order may be altered later in the season.

This year the team's chances have been boosted by the return of three lettermen: Sandell, a three-year veteran; Watson and Torkelson, both one-stripe men. The rest of the team, all first-year men, are: Amidon, who is in third position; Wilson, playing fifth place; and rated sixth, Loomis. Although this is the first year for the latter three men, they show great promise and should add a number of points to the Abes' side of the scorecard. If eligibility weren't a deciding factor when it came to participation in tennis, there would probably be some changes on the team, as Jim Greenwood, a Franklin transfer, plays a bang-up game. Jack Edgar and Ronald Rix are other possibilities.

GOLF . . . . Losing in their first match to Roosevelt, the title-holders, 17½ to 6½, the Lynx pellet chasers got away to a poor start.

The team, reaching their stride, came back to defeat Cleveland, 13½ to 10½, routed Garfield 22½ to 1½, and took a close 13-11 win over the Broadway Bengals. Against Queen Anne the Railsplitter divot diggers continued their winning streak by copping a win over the fighting Kuay outfit, 13-11. Against an undefeated Franklin squad the Lynx came out on the short end of a 14-10 score, losing all hopes of a championship.

At the time of this writing, the Lynx hold the third place berth; but a win over Ballard will place them in a tie for second place honors.

INTRAMURAL INDIVIDUAL WINNERS

Stan Atwood, Dave LeGrand, Art O'Laughlin, Wesley Francis, Lyle Watson.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS . . . . In the highlight of the intramural sports events of the year, Dave Le Grand won the annual Green Lake Marathon in the record breaking time of 18:56.8 to better the old time by twelve seconds. Following Le Grand in order were O'Laughlin, Francis, Wilson, Benson, Olsen, Carskadden, Fujiki, Bilderback, Graham, Blood, Lierance, Roberge, and Allen.

On the basketball floor, Jerry Mangan's team took the fall intramural basketball title in League A by winning six out of the seven games played. League B honors went to the team captained by Martin Faust, who finished at the head of a strong field of contenders.

Ping-pong proved to be a lively and strongly contested intramural sport, as it has been in the past. Stan Atwood, last year's champion, won all but one contest to again win the championship, Dale Riepe, John Fattorini, and Tony Bell giving him much close competition.

Managed by George Berry, the playground ball league opened its season by playing in two leagues, one in the morning and the other after school. Pearson and Morrison took the lead in the afternoon league, while Boettiger led the morning players, with all indications pointing to a lively race.

As far as handball is concerned, it appears very likely that Willis Kime will repeat his last year's feat and again defeat all contestants for the handball championship. However, if he does this, he will have to defeat strong players in the persons of Ed Klock and Norman Baltzo, who seem to be the strongest contenders.

The student managers of the various sports and their supervisor, Mr. Seltzer, have put in a good deal of work to make the intramural sports season the success it has been.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC COUNCIL—Row 1. Ruth Bauer, Aurora Kipperburg, Pat Hagman. Row 2. Louise Straus, Florence Owen, Violet Nystron.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS . . . . Those who participate in the Girls' intramural athletics are the ones who enjoy and benefit from them. To earn a Big "L," which is their ultimate goal, they must earn five hundred points. Five hundred points are given towards this honor to girls who make a first team in hockey, basketball, volleyball, or baseball, while fifty points are awarded for winning a second team position in any of these sports. Section champions in tennis also receive one hundred points, while the girls who turn out regularly but do not make the team are awarded twenty-five points. Twenty points are also given for each hike attended.

All matters pertaining to girls' athletics are under the management of the Athletic Council, composed this year of Violet Nystrom, senior representative; Aurora Kipperberg, junior; Louise Straus, sophomore; Florence Owen, freshman, and Pat Hagman, president of the Big "L" Club. Miss Katherine Wolfe and Miss Pauline Thompson are the faculty sponsors of the girls' athletic program, while Margaret Wilson served as freshman advisor.

Each sport was in charge of student managers. Those for the past year have been Peggy Wilson and Leota Gamble, hockey; Amy Moon and Marie Koutecky, volleyball; Esther Reger and Kay Bartron, basketball; Mary Sanders and Jane Robinson, baseball; Ruth Bauer, hiking; Aurora Kipperberg, badminton and ping pong; and Edith Trout, tennis. One hundred points were divided among the managers of each sport.

Opportunity is offered to every girl who wishes to turn out, since several teams from each class are formed to play preliminary tournaments. The captains, managers, and the Athletic Council then choose a team from these players to represent each class. The teams thus selected then play a series of games to determine the championship. The results of these tournaments gave the hockey championship to the juniors, while the basketball and volleyball championships went to the seniors.

Individual championships can be won in the other sports. Those for this year were won by Aurora Kipperberg in ping pong, Kay Bartron in badminton, Ruth Loomis in freshman tennis, Ann Whiteside, Norma Weiser, and Pat Hagman in sophomore, junior, and senior tennis respectively.

The fact that every girl can take part and has a chance to win a letter, the friendships made by the girls who participate, and the recreation afforded account for the tremendous popularity of these girls' athletics.
